

SEEKING MURDERERS WITH BLOODHOUNDS

SEARCH FOR THE DECATUR FOOTPADS.

Officers Hunt for the Men Who Killed
Rev. James Miller—Rewards Aggregating $1,500 Are to Be Offered
By the Governor and the Knights Templars.

Decatur, Ill., Nov. 25.—Rev. James Miller, pastor of Grace Methodist Church of Bloomington, and grand prelate of the grand commandery Knights Templars of Illinois, was shot and killed by thieves early Tuesday morning. He was murdered after a fierce struggle with his assailants near the home of friends he was on his way to visit. His body was found in an alley several hours after the bullet had crashed through his brain. His pocketbooks were rifled and his watch had disappeared, together with his pocketbook.

Over the murder hangs a mystery which bloodhounds in vain tried to unravel. Few had heard the shot. None had seen the murderer or murderers.
Dr. Miller had fought his fight for life alone, in the silence of the night, which was broken only by the crack of a revolver. He was in a fashionable neighborhood, but he seemed to be the only wayfarer until the murderers sprang upon him and ended his life. There is no clew to the perpetrators of the terrible crime. A masonic watch charm dropped in the flight through the gloom gave the police only an indication of the route taken by the murderers after they had rifled the dead man's clothes. The police are at sea, but the bloodhounds may trace the murderers to their hiding place.

The body of the murdered clergyman was taken to the First Methodist church of this city, where it will lie in state until Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the funeral services will be held. Beaumont Commandery Knights Templars of Decatur placed a guard of honor at the bier to remain constantly until the funeral services are held. The local commandery has offered a reward of $500 for the apprehension of the murderers, and De Molay Commandery of Bloomington will offer a similar amount. Governor Altgeld will be asked to offer a reward in behalf of the state. The amount will likely aggregate $1,500.

Try to Mob the Ex-Priest.
New York, Nov. 25.—It took all the police reserves in Newark, N. J., to save Slattery, the ex-priest, from being mobbed. He lectured in that city Tuesday evening, and at the close of the performance a crowd of some 1,500 men gathered at the doors to wait for his appearance on the street. A guard of twenty-five policemen then escorted Slattery and his wife to a cab, which was in waiting. As many as 3,000 people were trying to get at Slattery. The ex-priest drew a revolver and a shower of stones greeted his action. Slattery and his wife finally got safely aboard a train bound for New York.

STORY IS DOUBTED BY AUTHORITIES

STATE DEPARTMENT DISBE- LIEVES A RUMOR.

Report That the Crew of the Competitor Were Tried By Secret Court Martial Is Not Confirmed—Such Action Contrary to Treaty—Cuban News.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The State Department has received absolutely no information of any kind from Havana or elsewhere concerning the report that the competitor prisoners have been tried by a secret and summary court-martial. Under these circumstances no statement will be made at the department concerning the report, but in view of the plain provisions of our treaty, and also of the clear requirements of the domestic laws of Spain, the officials are loth to believe that the report is correct.

It is pointed out that under the law
for public order promulgated in Havana some months ago it is absolutely essential that counsel shall be allowed to prisoners on trial, and that there shall be no secrecy in the proceedings.
Under the protocol of our treaty with Spain there likewise is a provision for publicity in trials, and for full representation of accused by counsel.

It is believed, in view of these provisions, that the authorities at Havana would not dare to make such a flagrant breach of law as the report alleges.

WEYLER SEEMS SATISFIED.

Talks About His Campaign in Pinar
del Rio.

Havana, Nov. 25.—The unexpected

from the Province of Pinar del Rio, without having been successful in bringing about an engagement of any importance with the insurgents under Antonio Maceo, is causing considerable comment here, and there are many rumors in circulation.

On the other side, it is asserted that Weyler's return means that he will shortly return to Spain on some plea or another. This is denied, but the impression prevails that there will shortly be important changes here. It is announced that Captain General Weyler will probably return tomorrow to Pinar del Rio to resume an active campaign against the insurgents under Antonio Maceo.

mulate recommendations to congress.

publican Candidate—Emperor William Makes Another Sensational Speech to Recruits—Some Other Foreign News.

London, Nov. 25.—The annual meeting of the Cobden club took place Tuesday afternoon, Lord Farrer of Abinger presiding. The report quoted Canadian and other colonial statesmen against the plan of Joseph Chamberlain, the secretary of state for the colonies, for the establishment of an imperial Zollverein, and denounced the cattle bill of last session as a measure of protection. It regarded the Canadian election as most encouraging to free-traders, and expressed the hope that the circumstances under which the election was fought in the United States would "avert injury to international trade, which might otherwise be expected from the election of McKinley."

Lord Farrer reviewed at length the relations of Great Britain with the other powers in regard to free trade, and said: "The most important event of the year is McKinley's election. He was the man Cobdenites thought the worst that could be selected, until Bryan was nominated, and we do not disguise our delight at McKinley's election. We shall await his action regarding protection."

tieth anniversary of the admission of Colorado into the union. He arrived at seven o'clock and was met at the depot by a committee, including T. M.
Patterson, C. S. Thomas and Mayor Mc-Murray. Even at that early hour several thousand people were assembled about the union station, who swung their hats and cheered lustily. Mr.
Bryan was driven at once to the residence of the Hon. C. S. Thomas, where he breakfasted and remained until 10
a. m., when he went to the Brown Palace hotel to attend a reception given in his honor by the women of Denver.
Mrs. T. M. Patterson, president of the Equal Suffrage club, presided.

Mr. Bryan spoke for an hour, being suade Gen. Harrison to accept the seat in the United States senate which D.

W. Voorhees will surrender March 1.
Two or three members of the legislature have announced that they propose to vote for him in caucus, and a few papers throughout the state are advocating that he be made the senator.
Those members of the party who are urging him to consider the suggestion

BELOIT MACHINES TO GO TO JAPAN

PAPER MAKING BEGINS IN THE ORIENT.

Two Gentlemen From the Eastern Isle Place the Order With the Beloit Iron Works In Person—Are Practical Men—Some Other Contry News.

Beloit, Nov. 24.—Two Japanese business men and an English citizen visited Beloit yesterday, and the Japanese gentlemen placed an order with the Beloit Iron Works for a fine Fourdrinier paper machine to go to Tokio, Japan. The Japanese gentlemen were H. O. Kane and M. Onodero, and the Englishman was H. R. Belton. The Japanese were both educated in American colleges, and one has spent three years in an American paper mill learning the practical work of the business, and now is about to establish an American paper mill in his own country. In the negotiations for the machinery, the Iron Works folks suggested that they would have to send some one to Japan to put up the machine. "That is not necessary," replied the customer, "I can set up and operate your machine and expect to do so."

The machine is a good sized one, up to date in every particular and is to be completed next spring. It would seem as though the Japanese should become great factors in paper manufacturing when they use American machinery, for they are doing wonders by their primitive hand processes.

It is no mean compliment to the Beloit company that these gentlemen should come here to place their order for a paper machine, and shows that the reputation of the Iron Works has extended far out into the world.

Marrying a Whole Family.

On the 18th of November, 1896, in this city, J. B. Dow, Esq., united in marriage Amos Kinison to Miss Rosa B. Lyman, of Davis Junction, Ill. This made the fourth one from this Lyman family married by Mr. Dow, and upon this occasion he was informed by the blushing bride that there were two more unmarried Lymans still in the market; and that so far they were pleased with Mr. Dow's clerical way of adjusting the "matrimonial twig" was pretty conclusively evidenced by this fourth demand for his services.

Miss Bertha Clark was the recipient of a complete surprise, last Friday night, when about thirty of her young friends took possession of her home. A jolly evening was spent with music and games, and a dainty repast, consisting of confectionery, nuts and apples, was served. Such parties rather take away one's breath for a time, but that only makes it the more enjoyable all around. Come again. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Serl came down from Milton to attend the surprise party Friday evening. E. G. Chesbro is pushing work on his new tenant house and will soon have it ready for Mr. Terwilliger and family. Last Thursday afternoon witnessed a very pleasant "surprise tea party" Mrs. George Christie being the honored one. Nearly thirty participated in the event and a beautiful easy chair was presented as a memento of the occasion. Some After News.

Afternoon, Nov. 25.—A pleasant social held last Friday evening at the Baptist church by the Y. P. S. C. E. was enjoyed by those in attendance. Oake and coffee was served. A most enjoyable surprise was sprung on Ulysses G. Waite last Saturday evening at the hall, when he was inveigled there at the proper time by J. B. Humphrey. On opening the door about 80 pairs of eyes met his, and a chorus of voices rang out "surprise party," which proved to be true for he knew nothing of it previous to entering the hall. It was gotten up as a good by send off to his contemplated eastern trip, which was begun on the following Monday. U. G. contemplates putting in the remainder of the year in York state. Harry McCrea, who has been home a short time, has received orders to resume work as telegraph operator for the C. & N. W. Ry. Co. The friends of Mrs. L. H. Miller will be pained to learn of her serious illness. Let us hope for the best, and her speedy recovery.

MR. AND MRS. GUNNIS SURPRISED

Fiftieth Anniversary of the Hostess' Birth Was Pleasantly Marked

Last evening about nine o'clock the quiet home of Mr. and Mrs. and Mrs. Hans Gunnis on the West Pleasant street was invaded by a crowd of goodly number who came to remind Mrs. Gunnis that she had reached the fiftieth milestone in her life's journey. Both she and her husband were kindly remembered by the friends, they leaving two handsome rockers upon which they will recline in the days to come. The younger members of the company spent the balance of the evening in giving hearty response to the violin music while the older ones passed the hours away pleasantly with cards. It was a very enjoyable occasion.

TO CHANCE C. & N. W. FLAG STAFF

It Will Be Put On Higher Ground Away From the Smoke.

The flag staff at the C. and N. W. shops in this city is to be changed from its present location on account of prospective damage to the flag by smoke from the locomotives passing and repassing—to the number of one hundred or more every twenty-four hours. The staff will be located in the rear of the shop office on more elevated ground. Its height will be increased 15 feet—or 100 feet from ground as compared with its present location. "Old Glory" will then float on all legal holidays and on Sundays when the weather will permit.

J. C. KLINE'S NEW WORK AT CHICAGO

Labors Will Be Trying and the Pay Therefor Small.

The new work of Ex-Secretary J. C. Kline, of the local Y. M. C. A. at Chicago, is not very profitable. He enters upon his duties at about half the pay that he received while here, and his working territory includes a square mile. One of the tasks is the making of a house to house canvass among 70,000 people as one branch of his work will be to see the people in his district personally and induce them to come to church.

Many political speakers, clergymen and others, who use the voice excessively rely upon One Minute Cough Cure to prevent huskiness and laryngitis. Its value as a preventive is only equaled by its power to afford instantaneous relief. C. D. Stevens

ASSIGNEE IN CHARGE AFTER TWO YEARS

C. L. VALENTINE TAKES TOBACCO GROWERS' PROPERTY.

Will Try and Wind Up the Affairs of the Association—Organization Was Perfected In 1890, and Business Was Good Until Bickering Began.

Assignee Charles L. Valentine has taken charge of the Rock County Tobacco Growers' affairs—two years after the fire that cost the association $20,000. He holds the statement of assets and liabilities prepared by President Noyes and Assistant Secretary Charles F. Randall and began today on a scrutiny of the records.

The Tobacco Growers' Association was organized in 1890 as a stock company with a capital stock of $5000 and including in its membership over 400 of the best farmers in the county and had a prosperous career for two years, but hard times and alleged mismanagement gave birth to internal jealousies and dissensions and a rapid decline set in until two years ago this fall when the warehouse burned. Since then there has been a series of legal contentions without definite issue and now an effort is being made to wind up the offices of the association.

THE HOME FOR FEEBLE MINDED

State Board of Control Seeks Information as to Proposed Inmates.

President James E. Heg, of the state board of control, has prepared the following circular, which will be sent to county superintendents, trustees of county asylums, poor houses, and others:

"It is expected that the Wisconsin Home for the Feeble Minded at Chippewa Falls, Wis., will be ready to receive inmates in January next. The board of control is desirous of learning approximately the number and general characteristics of probable applicants for admission to the home. It therefore requests trustees of county asylums, poorhouses, orphan asylums, all public and private institutions, as well as heads of families, to write for further particulars to the state board of control, Madison, Wis. "It is the intention of the board of control to select from these applications those cases that from the description seem to be the heaviest burden upon the public institutions and upon the private families. It is also intended to care for the better grades—those capable of being taught but too backward to be taught in the public schools. All persons knowing of eligible cases of either class are requested to send the names and addresses of the parents or guardians to the Board of Control. "Newspapers, teachers and others are urged in the interests of humanity to spread a knowledge of this home among the people."

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

1748—Isaac Watts, English clergyman, poet, philosopher and hymn writer, died in London; born 1674. Watts' present fame rests upon the hymns and psalms found in all church collections, but he has a place among poets and philosophers. His poetical writings were chiefly devotional, but they earned for the author a place in Dr. Johnson's "Lives of the English Poets."

1764—Hogarth, the English painter and caricaturist, died; born 1697.

1783—Evacuation of New York by the British, the last position held by them in the United States. Previous to the Revolution New York city was the seat of colonial government and was the first point of attack after the British entered upon a vigorous prosecution of the war. As a result of the patriot defeat on Long Island the city fell into Howe's hands Sept. 15, 1776. Before the close of that year battles were fought in the upper end of Manhattan Island, but Washington at last abandoned all territory east of the Hudson. On the 25th of November, 1783, he marched into the city at the head of an army.

1850—Terrible storm on the European coast; the British steamer Royal Charter wrecked and 455 persons drowned.

1863—Congressman Charles O'Neill, called "the father of the house," died in Philadelphia; born 1821.

Election figures should have taught Mr. Bryan something about the market value of his eloquence. His lecture tour will give him another basis for calculation. About 5,000 people heard him in Janesville when he came through in October. If five hundred in all that throng prove willing to pay fifty cents a head to hear him it will be because McKimley's election has made half-dollars commoner than campaign buttons.

He Knew.

The new woman orator waxed eloquent.

"And what," she demanded as she came to the climax, "is to be the result of our emancipation?"

She looked around with the calm assurance of one who had asked a poser, and this was too much for the little man who was waiting for his wife in a far corner of the hall.

"I know," he shouted.

"Ah," returned the new woman on the platform scornfully, "the little man with the bald head thinks he has solved the problem that we came here to discuss this afternoon. We will gladly give our attention while he tells us what is to be the result."

"Cold dinners and ragged children," roared the little man.—Chicago Post.

Incapacitated.

"I'm afraid," said the newspaper proprietor, "that we'll have to get somebody else to write those bitter critical screeds."

"Why, Mr. Korstick has done that work with exceptional brilliancy."

"Yes; but he's getting out of condition."

"Is his health failing?"

"Not a bit of it. He told me yesterday he had quite recovered from his dyspepsia."—Washington Star.

A Sure Sign of Prosperity.

Asa Trumps (the faro king)—He's doing splendidly. I haven't heard from him for more than a year.

First Youth—I just got back. Lead me to the west.

T. E. BROWN WANTS TO EARN A LIVING

ary, 1895. At this date they were again at their flat in New York. For two months they followed a continuation of their programme of the year before, but it was on a trifle more subdued scale than previously. Young Brown was being brought to his first realization of the foolishness of his course. With the departure of his resources was coming a judgment which could but point the error of his way. But it came too late to be of material aid in the matter of saving his fortune.

In July of 1895 Mr. and Mrs. Brown closed out their flat in New York, drew their balance from their banker, and removed to Milwaukee, Wis. Mrs. Brown had friends and relatives in that city, and it was first proposed to make only a short visit there. So pleasant was their stay, however, that departure was postponed until a year had passed. Though many extravagant habits had been abandoned, it still required a good sum to enable them to live, and their bank account was diminishing.

Brown Would Make Amends.

In July of this year Talmadge Brown had charged greatly from the young man who left Des Moines five years before. From the inexperienced boy of that time he had grown to a young man of 22, with thoughts and ideas of an older person. With this change of ideas came one that he had not received his due from the estate of his father. He had come to realize that the share which should have come to him was much in excess of what he had received. Legal advice was sought and an attempt was made to have the contract agreeing to abandon claims on the estate set aside. It was claimed that Brown was a minor when he signed the contract; that he did not realize what it implied and that the contract was unjust. The case was tried in Des Moines and was submitted to Judge Conrad. A decision has just been rendered against the youth and in favor of the estate.

Talmadge Brown, wife and pretty daughter, Texie, are at present at the Morgan house in Des Moines. There remains little to remind him that but a short time ago he was the possessor of $70,000.

There is no false pride about this young man. He realizes that he acted far from wisely, and he wishes an opportunity to make amends. Had he been fortunate enough to secure the additional sum from the estate for which he sued, it would not have changed his plans. Hereafter he is determined to become a useful member of society.

The Cash Plan Does It.

It never looks well for a business concern to do an enormous amount of blowing about low prices and great bargains without there is something behind the heavy blow to substantiate statements. I not only looks badly but its reaction on the concern is of a damaging character. We are just in a position to make statements and also to carry out to the letter every assertion we make. The goods are always here, plenty of them, whenever we told them in heavy terms, and the prices are never otherwise than as we say. The cash system does it; we can afford to do it. Where else will you find the underwear prices and values spoken of in our large ad this evening, but at our store? The others can't do it. A saving on all the dry goods you buy, means a considerable saving at the end of the year. Bort, Bailey & Co.

THAT COMMON TROUBLE, ACID DYSPEPSIA OR SOUR STOMACH.

Now Recognized as a Cause of Serious Disease.

Acid dyspepsia, commonly called heartburn or sour stomach, is a form of indigestion resulting from fermentation of the food. The stomach being too weak to promptly digest it, the food remains until fermentation begins, filling the stomach with gas, and a bitter, sour, burning taste in the mouth is often present. This condition soon becomes chronic and being an everyday occurrence is given but little attention. Because dyspepsia is not immediately fatal, many people do nothing for the trouble.

Within a recent period a remedy has been discovered prepared solely to cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles. It is known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and is now becoming rapidly used and prescribed as a radical cure for every form of dyspepsia.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been placed before the public and are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. It is prepared by the Stuart Chemical Co., Marshall, Mich., and while it promptly and effectively restores a vigorous digestion, at the same time is perfectly harmless and will not injure the most delicate stomach, but on the contrary by giving perfect digestion strengthens the stomach, improves the appetite and makes life worth living.

T. E. BROWN WANTS TO EARN A LIVING

MAN WHO SQUANDERED $70,000 PENITENT.

The Husband of Miss Nellie Baker, the Actress, Once Wealthy, Now Seeks Work to Support His Wife and Baby—Story of His Remarkable Career.

T. E. Brown, of Des Moines, Iowa, husband of Miss Nellie Baker, whom Janesville people well know, ran through a fortune of $70,000 in five short years, and now wants a chance to work for his wife and baby.

Miss Baker, or rather Mrs. Brown, is the well known actress.

T. E. Brown, worth $1,000,000 died in Des Moines in May, 1891. In August of the same year his son, Talmadge, started on his travels. He was seventeen years old and inexperienced. From Des Moines he went to New York. New York always had the reputation of providing plentiful ways for disposing of any surplus cash and Talmadge commenced making away with the twenty odd thousand dollars which he had about him.

After a time, however, such pleasure palled upon young Brown and he left New York for visits to Washington, Philadelphia and Baltimore. In New York he had spent $12,000 in three months.

In the several cities which Brown next visited the majority of his time was spent in sight-seeing. In January, 1892, the idea struck him to visit England. To think was to act, and within three days he was on his way to England and Scotland. His first stopping place was Edinburgh. His experiences were varied—a faint repetition of his New York adventure. Playing at the Haymarket theater was the Criterion Comedy company.

Marries Miss Baker.

The soubrette of the company was a worthy young American, Miss Helen O. Baker, dispatches say. She had made a great bit and was everywhere talked about. Miss Baker was handsome and intelligent, with beautiful brown eyes, a lovely complexion and perfect features. Young Brown was anxious to meet her, the introduction was accomplished and if she was charming on the stage she was doubly so off the stage. It was a case of love on both sides. There was no hindrance to an early marriage. Within one month Miss Baker became Mrs. Talmadge Brown.

Mrs. Brown was induced to resign her position with the Criterion company and the young couple at once left on a wedding tour. Expense was no object to them. London, Paris, Brussels and other foreign cities were visited. In every instance the best hotels were patronized. Historical points were seen and souvenirs obtained. Box parties with congenial friends were indulged in at the theaters. These and many other methods of pleasure were enjoyed, an altogether ideal summer and fall being passed. In December, 1892, the couple returned to New York. A partial reason for their return was that their ready capital had almost melted away. There was also another reason. On April 8, 1893, a bright baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Brown.

Shortly afterward negotiations were entered into between Talmadge and the attorneys for his father's estate. Brown's purse was very much depleted and he wished to replenish it. In his youth and inexperience all he thought was of the present. He was totally incapable of judging what his share of the estate was worth. Rightfully the total sum should have been in the neighborhood of $175,000. But now was a boy of 19 who had never had a day's business experience to know this? His immediate needs becoming pressing, a proposition was placed before him. It was an offer of $50,000 in cash in case Brown and his wife would sign a paper relinquishing further right to the property. The clever attorney rightly guessed that young Brown did not realize the value of the estate and that he was in such a position that he would accept almost any proposition. And besides that $50,000 is a huge sum of money and in itself was an alluring bait. A paper was made out and signed by Talmadge Brown and wife, relinquishing all claim to the estate for $50,000 ready money. This was in July, 1893.

Upon receipt of the sum the couple at once left for Newport. Before the trip a few "incidental" were necessary. Particularly must the wardrobes be looked after. Not a garment was retained which Brown possessed before the latest windfall was retained. He procured perhaps the most extensive assortment ever taken to this resort. Mrs. Brown went in even more elaborately, in her trunk were gowns and gowns, so many in fact, that it was almost unnecessary for her to appear twice in the same garment. Gay life in New York lasted until 1894.

Wintering on the Gulf Coast. Returning to New York city, their flat was put into habitable shape just before the attractions of Florida as a winter resort were put before them irresistibly. To Florida they therefore betook themselves. At St. Augustine they sojourned for two months at the Palace hotel. Another month was spent at the Beach hotel at Galveston, Texas.

This traveling around, stopping at swell hotels and spending money in every conceivable way, told upon their capital. There still remained, however, a respectable balance in Febru-

WOMAN SUES CRALL CLAIMING DAMAGES

MRS. CRIST BEGINS ACTION AGAINST HIM.

She Wants $5,000 in Payment For the Pain and Mental Anguish He is Alleged to Have Caused Her—The Defendant Denies the Allegation.

Mrs. Irene L. Crist, wife of Gabriel Crist of Johnstown, has sued Joshua Crall for $5,000 damages, alleging that on May 6, 1896, he grossly misused her. Her complaint recites that the defendant called at her home in Johnstown, and when he found that her husband was not at home used insulting language, and with much violence attempted to kiss and hug her. By reason of his acts, she avers, she was rendered sick and sore and suffered great mental and bodily pain and anguish.

The defendant enters a denial to all the charges. When examined before Court Commissioner Patten yesterday he denied seeing Mrs. Crist or having anything to do with her. Had never but once to meet her to know her, and that was on January 31, 1896.

Fethers, Jeffris, Fifield & Mount and H. S. Sloan are attorneys for the plaintiff, and Sutherland & Nolan appear for the defendant.

THANKSGIVING TURKEY.

The Thanksgiving turkey shoot is a sporting event which survives only in remote rural districts. It never was a feature of the urban celebration of the holiday, and hardly one city bred man out of a hundred would know what was meant by the term.

The origin of the turkey shoot dates way back to the time of our Puritan forefathers, when wild turkeys could be found in great abundance all over New England. As the newly created day of thanks approached Miles began to make preparations for supplying some substantial dish for the holiday table. He took down his long barreled flintlock, filled his powderhorn and his bullet pouch, tied on his moccasins and started out before daylight into the adjacent woods. If he had good luck, he caught sight of his prey after a walk of an hour or so and laid him low with unerring aim. Then he proudly walked back to his log cabin and plumped down a 15 pound gobbler before the admiring Priscilla. Surely there was good cause for giving thanks on such an occasion, for your domestic reared turkey cannot begin to compare in delicate flavor with that of his wild brother who has fed on dried berries, nuts and aromatic buds until his flesh, though perhaps not so tender, is delicious to the taste.

It is in sections where the wild turkey was once found, but from which he has disappeared, that the Thanksgiving turkey shoot flourishes. There being none of the wild birds about to give the village marksmen a chance to show their skill, the domesticated turkey is used as a substitute.

Almost every locality of this sort has an individual who may be relied upon to get up the shoot. In a certain little town in northern Michigan which I have in mind just now this office was filled by Rufe Jackson, who passed the summer months in the wheelhouse of a little tug of which he was captain and crew. During the fall and winter Rufe turned his hand to almost anything that did not demand hard work and in which there was an honest dollar.

So along about Thanksgiving time there appeared in the local weekly paper a notice to the effect that "our enterprising and genial townsman, Captain Rufe Jackson, has secured from Detroit two dozen fine turkeys which he is fattening in anticipation of the annual Thanksgiving turkey shoot which he will conduct at the foot of Main street."

Every one knew the place indicated, for Main street had a definite foot, or ending, in the lake. So on Thanksgiving morning every man who thought he was a good rifle shot—and there were full twoscore in the village—could be seen making his way down toward the lake shore.

"Hello, doc! Where you goin with the gun?" was a common salutation on such occasions.

"Oh, just down to the shore."

"Expect to get one of Cap'n Rufe's turkeys?"

"Oh, no! I'm just going to throw a little lead at 'em for fun. Want to help Rufe out, you know."

This reply would call out a hearty laugh, for it was well known that the doctor was one of the best shots in town and that he usually got a turkey pretty cheap on Thanksgiving day.

At the lake shore would be gathered from 50 to 75 men, most of them with rifles, but some without. The latter were the noncombatants who had come down to see the fun along with half the boys in the village. Out on the edge of the shore ice Captain Rufe had stationed his assistant with the turkeys. The birds were in crates and bobbed their heads up through the slats wonderingly. They were as excited and nervous as if they knew the fate in store for them.

The butt of a saw log which had been rolled out on the ice served as an executioner's block. Behind this the turkeys were tied. And they had wit enough to crouch down behind it they would have been safe from the bullets, but the foolish birds constantly stretched up their necks to see what was going on, and thus offered a fair if not an easy mark for the sportsmen. The assistant had rigged up a bullet proof wind break of logs and boards, behind which he might seek shelter while the rifles were popping.

Inshore, 100 yards away, Captain

Rufe had marked off the line behind which the marksmen were to stand. The boys had built up a fire of driftwood, where numbed fingers might be thawed out, and all was in readiness.

"Now, boys," spoke up the captain, "we're all ready for the slaughter. I've got two dozen fine birds out there, fat and young and tender, and it only costs you 10 cents a shot. Who'll open the ball?"

The captain's assistant had tied one of the turkeys behind the log, and the bird was peering foolishly about to see what was going to happen next. There was a loud laugh from the crowd when Tuttle, who kept the hardware store, stepped up to the improvised range and tossed a half dollar to the captain, with the remark that he reckoned he "could get two or three birds for that."

As Tuttle was known to be the poorest but most persistent shot in town, his optimistic sally was regarded as the height of the ridiculous. With a good humored smile he told the crowd to watch him "knock that fellow's head off" and blazed away with his new breechloading rifle. His first shot sent up a little cloud of powdered ice 20 feet

The sick man knocking at the door of health gets in if he knocks the right way, and, stays out if he doesn't. There are thousands of ways of getting sick but only one way to get well. Do whatever you will, if you do not put your digestion in good order, and make your blood rich and pure, you will not get well. Rich, pure blood is the only thing that can bring perfect health. Constipation is a disease of the blood. A large part of all diseases are traceable directly to impurities in the blood, and can be cured by eliminating them with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The first thing it does is to put the whole digestive system into perfect order. It stimulates the appetite, excites a copious secretion of the digestive fluids and promotes assimilation. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be, kills them and forces them out of the system. The "Golden Medical Discovery" has been used with unvarying success for over 30 years.

He is in the drug business, a member of the firm of Johnson Bros., of that place; and they handle a great many patent medicines for throat and lung diseases. He had all these to choose from, and skilled physicians ready to respond to his call, but selected this remedy for use in his own family at a time when his child's life was in danger, because he knew it to be superior to any other and famous the country over for its cures of croup. How to Cure Bilious Colic.

I suffered for weeks with colic and pains in my stomach caused by biliousness and had to take medicine all the while until I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which cured me. I have since recommended it to a good many people. Mrs. F. BUTLER, Fairhaven, Conn. Persons who are subject to bilious colic can ward off the attack by taking this remedy as soon as the first symptoms appear. Sold at C. D. Stevens' pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

"The worst cold I ever had in my life was cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes W. H. Norton, of Sutter Creek, Cal. "This cold left me with a cough and I was expecting all the time. The Remedy cured me and I want all my friends when troubled with a cough or cold to use it, for it will do them good." Sold at C. D. Stevens' pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

Lowell's Stove Handling!

Has been enormous thus far this season. The long lines of HEATERS have been diminishing throughout the store and new ones are constantly coming. It's not simply blow, this Stove talk. People don't buy Stoves of us out of friendship. There is reason for it, several of them perhaps. Our Stoves are better and cheaper in price than other dealers. Broad assertion you think. but so, nevertheless.

None better than
The Jewel,
The Garland,
The Peninsular,

OUR years of experience in the winter wants of people tells us the proper Stoves to handle. You run no experiment in buying a stove of us. You run no risk of paying too much for the Stove either.

Our store is the resort of economical people who buy:

and articles for household uses. The Big Cash Store, on the corner saves you money on most anything you want to buy.

to the right of the turkey. The second went as far to the left. The third was nearer in line, but fell 50 feet short, while the fourth went sailing harmlessly over the turkey's head far out on to the frozen surface of the lake. "You're gittin' the range, Tuttle; you're gittin' it," encouragingly suggested the captain, while the bystanders added other remarks which were not so encouraging.

"I'll get him this time sure," said Tuttle. But he didn't. There was much discussion as to where his bullet really did strike, but the point was not settled. There was no disputing one fact—the captain had 50 cents in his pocket, and not a feather of his first bird had been touched.

While Tuttle was carefully cleaning out his rifle and reloading another marksman stepped up to the line. His bullets went much nearer the mark than those of the hardware dealer's, but a turkey's head is not an easy mark to hit at 100 yards, especially when a strong wind is sweeping across the range. So inside of half an hour Captain Rufe had been paid almost twice as much as the bird cost him, and was feeling very good natured.

Then Hayes, the blacksmith, shouldered his way to the front, unlimbered his rifle and squinted carefully along the sights. It took three shots before he got the gauge and his fourth bullet made the splinters fly from the log. His fifth and sixth shots were evidently close, but it was not until the seventh shot that the waving neck of the turkey disappeared from sight.

BACK FROM THE TURKEY SHOOT.

"Got him that time, Hayes!" remarked the captain. "Here, boy, run down and get that bird, will you?"

When the trophy was brought back, it was "hefted" by the crowd, who decided that it was a good 12 pounder.

Then the doctor signified his intention of shooting a little, and a fresh bird was put up. The doctor got him at the sixth shot, and the captain said that 60 cents was twice as much as he had expected to get from him.

Then came the other marksmen. Some of them shot as many as a dozen times without even hitting the stump, and the next three or four turkeys which were killed brought the captain in from $1.50 to $2 each. The firing had been going on merrily for an hour, when a peculiar looking figure came shuffling down the street.

"Hello! Here's old Jake."

Jake proved to be a half breed Indian, well known as a village character. A cur dog loped along at his heels, and he trailed an antiquated and battered muzzle loading rifle. Jake viewed the shooting for awhile, and then handed out a 10 cent piece to the captain without a word. Raising his long barreled gun to his shoulder, he cautiously took aim and fired. The turkey's head still waved defiantly and Jake swore fluently. With a good deal of grumbling he fished out another dime and reloaded his rifle. It was evident that he meant business this time, for he peered carefully through the sights before he pulled the trigger. There was a spurt of blood on the white snow, and the turkey's head disappeared. Jake's second bullet had cut the bird's head off as clean as if it had been severed with a hatchet. Tuttle bought the prize, and Jake went back up town to invest the proceeds of his marksmanship in hot and rebellious liquor.

These are some of the incidents connected with the most recent turkey shoot that I witnessed, and, although that was a dozen years ago, I suppose that this coming Thanksgiving there will be a similar gathering down on the lake shore.

Among several minor pedagogic positions he became head master of the famous Rugby school in 1858. In 1868 Gladstone appointed him bishop of Exeter. New York Sign Statistics.

If statistics of illustrative signs should be taken in New York it is probable that the one found to predominate would be that showing some kind of a representation of the human tooth. They are to be seen everywhere and in all sizes and conditions. Usually the favorite method of advertising in this way seems to be with a gilt tooth in varying degrees of magnitude. Sometimes they are placed firmly in position, sometimes they sway in the breeze, and again the fact that the tooth or the tooth doctor is American is made plain by the figure of a spread eagle with the tooth suspended in his bill. A Fourteenth street dentist has a more unpleasant advertisement at the front entrance to his establishment in a small glass case half full of genuine teeth, which presumably he has extracted. The sign of the automatic jaws—two sets of teeth, which are made to open and shut apparently without rhyme or reason before the public gaze—is unpleasantly familiar. This sign has reference to the more mechanical work of dentistry. But all these signs, which appear to indicate that the people of the city were interested in nothing so much as in having their teeth extracted and replaced, are contradicted by the best dentists of the city, though people as a rule associate a dentist's office with the unpleasant thought of having a tooth pulled.—New York Times.

WHICH CURED HIM AFTER EVERYTHING ELSE FAILED.

Painful diseases are bad enough, but when a man is slowly wasting away with nervous weakness, the mental forebodings are ten times worse than the most severe pain. There is no rest up to the mental suffering day or night. Sleep is almost impossible and under such a strain men are scarcely responsible for what they do. For years the writer rolled and tossed on the troubled sea of sexual weakness until it was a question whether he had not better take a dose of poison and thus end all his troubles. But providential I sprang into the aid in the shape of a combi-

I am not a philanthropist, nor do I pose as an enthusiast, but there are thousands of men suffering the mental torments of weakness and nervousness who would be cured at once could they but get such a remedy as the one that cured me. Do not try to study out how I can afford to pay the few postage stamps necessary to mail the information, but send for it, and learn that there are a few things on earth that although they cost nothing to get they are worth a fortune to some men and mean a lifetime of happiness to others. The Special Reduction Sale Of Dinner Sets at Wheellock's

Crockery store closes Thanksgiving day. They have gone well but the stock was so large that a good assortment is still to choose from. One favorite set is of Ridgway's English make, of which we imported a crate expecting to sell them at $15.00. Ridgway's is a fine make, the goods are not clumsy, but rather thin semi-porcelain. Gold lines filled in colors, new shape, up-to-date all around and would stand every day all year and never craze. We put them on sale at $13.00 instead of $15 and they sold well. During this sale they go for $10.40. This is only one set of many from $4.00 to $45.00.
